The Office of Human Rights and Equity is excited to start the new school year 2023-2024 with renewed energy and commitment to work collaboratively towards creating learning environments that are welcoming and inclusive of all members of our community. It has never been more evident that the work of Human Rights and Equity cannot be siloed and partnerships with students, parents/caregivers, departments across HCDSB and community organizations are vital for transformational change. We are grateful for the many partnerships that have been invaluable to this work and together we will continue to center student achievement and wellbeing. Our first newsletter of this school year captures highlights of the work over the first few months.
